The Future of Rural: Investing in Infrastructure, Innovation, and People Ensures Rural Communities Stay Competitive

As I write this, I just wrapped up our Industry Tours celebrating Manufacturing Day here in York County. This year, we were joined by high school students and educators as we toured Nebraska Public Power District and Bayer's seed-corn processing facility. Seeing these industries through the eyes of our future workforce was a powerful reminder of how essential investments in infrastructure, innovation, and people make a rural community truly competitive.

These tours highlighted the importance of connecting education, workforce, and industry, which also underscores the value NREDA brings as a bridge between policy, practice, and place through sharing our stories, best practices and innovative ideas.

Industry Update: Rural Issues Committee

NREDA Board Member Brad Ebersole and Dan Boysel from Consolidated Cooperative presented a donation for the SourcePoint MealsOnWheels nutrition program. CoBank matched the Consolidated Cooperative donation through their Sharing Success program.

SourcePoint's Meals on Wheels program serves over 1,200 meals a day to over 600 Delaware County, Ohio older adults and continues to grow.

About SourcePoint

In 1992, SourcePoint started with one goal—to help local seniors live safely at home and avoid premature nursing home care and long waitlists. Today, they do that and much more.

SourcePoint is the most comprehensive aging services provider in Delaware County, Ohio. They provide adults ages 55 and older with in-home care services – such as Meals on Wheels and personal care – to help seniors live independently at home. They also offer hundreds of community programs on-site in their enrichment center and off-site throughout the county to promote health and wellness for older adults and caregivers.

They are truly a unique nonprofit organization, bringing a wide variety of aging services and expertise together under one roof.

Well done, Brad, Dan, and everyone at Consolidated Cooperative.

New Member Spotlight

Learn more about NREDA's new members, and welcome Frederick A. Van Den Abbeel to the NREDA community!

Within Montana Department of Commerce, the Business Attraction Team works to stimulate and grow Montana's economy while respecting Montana's values and lifestyle for its citizens by attracting quality international and domestic businesses in targeted, high-value sectors throughout the state. Born near Brussels, Belgium and managing the Silicon Valley satellite office for the Montana Department of Commerce, Frederick Van Den Abbeel is a senior business attraction advisor who works with companies ranging from SMEs to large international corporations considering the State of Montana for expansion.

Montana is appropriately called "The Treasure State" and it became a state on November 8, 1889. My love and admiration for Montana was best described by the late author, John Steinbeck who famously said "I am in love with Montana. For other states I have admiration, respect, recognition, even some affection, but with Montana it is love."

Register Now for the NREDA 2025 Annual Conference!

Join your rural economic development peers in Nashville to "Kick Up" your skills, knowledge and networking for success! We've put together a great slate of learning opportunities and dynamic speakers for this year's conference. In addition to the always popular site selection panel, we will tackle new challenges and opportunities facing rural developers and their communities including crisis communications, policies and geopolitics, cyber security, applying AI, next generation board development/leadership, future utility needs and issues (e.g. grid security, generation, politics). That's not all! Our mobile classrooms will have opportunities for every interest, from manufacturing to downtown development to entrepreneurship.

Registration is open! Find more information about registration, pricing, and hotel reservations below. Visit the Conference Webpage for partnership opportunities, the conference agenda and additional conference resources.
